I launched last Tuesday, started running ads last Wednesday, and received my first sale that same day!!

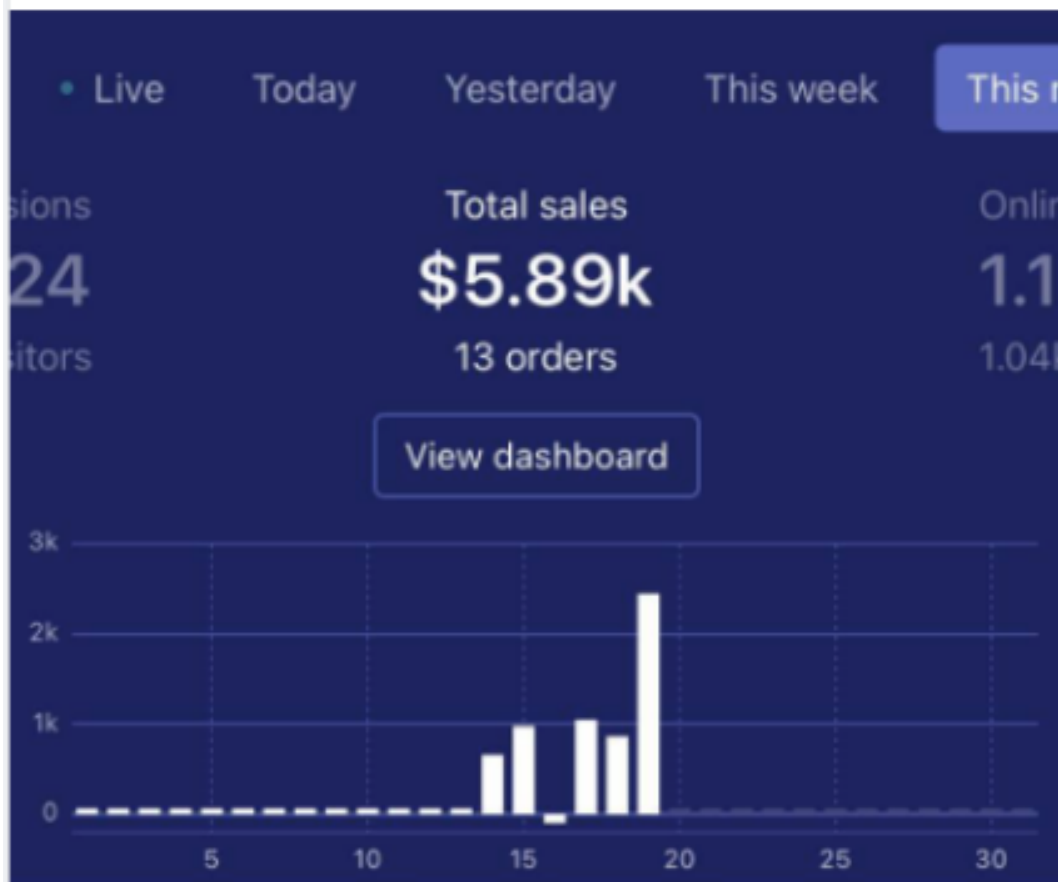

It's prob more luck than skill at this point but you know what they say about luck: it's when preparation meets opportunity.

Did just under $6,000 in sales in 6 days and have been learning a ton throughout the process.

Many of my suppliers are sold out of stock so it's been a little crazy keeping those orders BUT I have emailed, called and/or texted every one of my 13 sales (lucky #13) letting them know the deal with inventory challenges and just keeping them in the loop. All but one customer said keep the money and send the product when it's back in stock (which is about a 3 week wait time).

I'm still figuring things out but my advice is stick with it, overcome the challenges and offer WHITE GLOVE, AMAZING, IMPECCABLE, CARING customer service and you'll be great!!

Good luck to everyone!

Hey guys! Hope everyone is crushing it. Just some more motivation that this stuff works!

I failed at literally every other business opportunity I tried before this. This is not easy but if you just follow exactly what Anton Kraly says, you'll see results.

Very excited that my store is on pace to do about $45k-$50k in sales this month and today marks 3 months to the day that I started. Happy bday to my store 🥳🎉🎂🍰

Never give up, keep pushing and working hard!! 🙌

I launched my store back on February 27th of this year. I've been open for 6 months now and have hit the 300k in Revenue Mark. It's been a ton of hard work and long hours. After 6 months I feel like I'm finally getting into the swing of how to run the store, but I of course have so much more to learn. This system works! Trust Anton and the DSL Team 🙌😊 Shout out to Anton & Johnny FD

Hello Anton!

I joined your DSL program in November last year as I wanted to move away from my corporate work to become independent. The pandemic hit and as I was working in the travel industry I was put on furlow, which came like a blessing as I was able to fully focus on my new objective...
Long story short, at home with 2 young kids and a wife working frontline, I managed to launch my site in May and continued working long nights and weekends through almost all your content.

Looking back, it has been quite a journey, and you have really been my guide. The quality of your content (relevance, teaching method, details and updates) makes it truly unique and something that really made me believe I can do it... and succeed so far. Still today I am very excited about every new podcast or session you put out there, as I love being on the continuous learning curve as the business evolves every month. It feels great to have a mentor who is there, able to share what to pay attention to, what's coming up and how to deal with it!

I would like to thank you a million times for the work you do and how you helped me change my life!
